Compete, Continue & Comply - the Value of BS25999

Guest speaker: Mike Osborne,
ICM Continuity Services

Organisations today operate in very dynamic environments. They are surrounded by many challenges, economic downturn, political uncertainties, increasing wage demands and the continual threat of disruptive events caused by natural and man-made events.

To survive and thrive they must ensure they are capable of meeting the demanding requirements of their customers and regulators. Being capable of maintaining supply in the face of a disruptive challenge will ensure they not only maintain their existing customers but strengthen their competitive position to win new business.

The new British Standard for Business Continuity Management - BS25999 - provides a sound basis on which to build resilience to enable the organisation to compete, continue and comply.

The CISA/CISM CPE credit for this meeting will be 1 hour.
